

Welcome to Adelaide Rover teams!

We've compiled a user-friendly guide for you to get the best experience out of your time in Adelaide, South Australia. Before we get into the details, it's customary in Australia for us to acknowledge the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people who first inhabited the land we meet on. The land where Adelaide (Tarntanya) is located is the land of the Kurna (Garrna) people, whose territory extends from Cape Jervis in the south, to Crystal Brook in the north, and the Flinders Ranges to the east. The University is committed to reconciliation, to excellence in Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander education and research, and to incorporating Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander knowledge, histories and perspectives into our University culture.

Kurna Acknowledgement

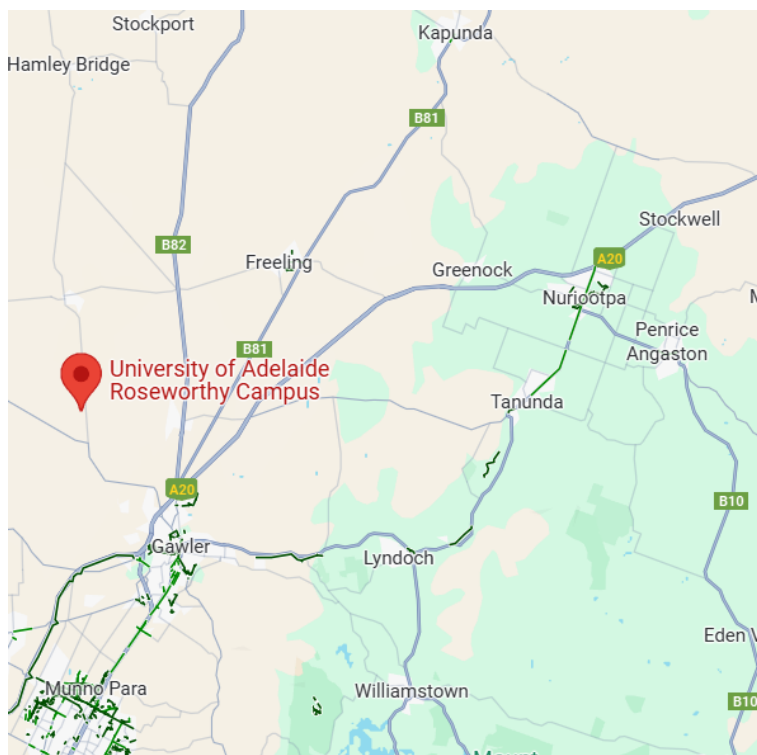

We acknowledge and pay our respects to the Kurna people, the traditional custodians whose ancestral lands we gather on. We acknowledge the deep feelings of attachment and relationship of the Kurna people to country and we respect and value their past, present and ongoing connection to the land and cultural beliefs.
